PRESS RELEASE

Miller Packaging adds Vice President of Sales and Marketing

Newark, NY

Chris Campbell joins Miller Packaging as Vice President of Sales and Marketing, expanding Miller Packaging's global reach and adding 25 years of flexible packaging experience.

Miller Packaging formally announces the addition of Chris Campbell as Vice President of Sales and Marketing. Chris brings to Miller Packaging over 25 years of experience in the flexible packaging industry, including such high-tech applications as static and moisture protective packaging and clean room packaging.

Chris Campbell will be directly responsible for all aspects of sales and marketing, as well as supply chain management for the US and foreign markets. Chris will be establishing a California warehousing operation, overseeing the global promotion of Miller Packaging products, and managing the Miller Packaging staff of business development, marketing and sales personnel.

Miller Packaging manufactures a wide variety of commodity and specialized flexible packaging products for the electronics, food, medical/pharmaceutical and imaging markets. From manufacturing and warehousing operations in Guadalajara, Mexico, Miller Packaging has become the largest manufacturer of flexible Electro-Static Discharge (ESD) protective packaging in Latin America. Adding California warehousing to complement the 275,000 square foot manufacturing and warehousing facility located in New York will give Miller Packaging East and West Coast stocking capabilities with which to expand its market penetration.
